Q. My son, a Marine in Vietnam, was wounded in June and now is in the naval hospital on Guam. Is there some way I could get a medical report on his condition, and is it possible to visit him at the hospital? Mrs. W. L., Lakewood.

A. Yes. For an official medical report, write to the commanding officer, U.S. Naval Hospital, Guam, FPO San Francisco, Calif. 96630, giving your son's name, rank and serial number. Lt. Jack T. Henderson of the Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery in Washington, D.C., says hospitals have visiting hours you can obtain by writing to the commanding officer, but the State Department must approve a visa before you go. Information about accommodations is also available from the hospital, Lt. Henderson says.

Q. I think it was Shakespeare who said, "Suspicion haunts the guilty mind," but I can't find this quote in any of his works. Can you verify this for me? J. E., Long Beach.

A. Yes. "Suspicion always haunts the guilty mind. The thief doth fear each bush an officer," is the observation by the Duke of Gloucester when he speaks to Henry in Act V, Scene 6, Line 11 of Shakespeare's "Henry VI" Part 3. The play written in 1590-91, is generally considered the Bard's first major work.

Q. My husband was the victim of a hit-and-run accident last May. He's still in the hospital with severe brain damage and is totally blind, but the doctor says he might improve if I brought him home. Is there any agency which would give us enough financial assistance to allow me to quit my job and take care of my husband? M.M., Long Beach.

A. Call Mrs. Catherine Hinderer, supervisor for the Long Beach District Office of the California Bureau of Public Assistance, 591-6611, and set a date for an interview to see if you qualify for aid. Mrs. Hinderer will help you determine if your husband is eligible for aid to the blind or aid to the totally disabled, in which case you and your children may qualify for dependent benefits.

Q. My office at Douglas Aircraft Co. recently received some plastic model airplane kits of the World War II plane "Dauntless." Can Action Line help me find some worthy youngsters to give them to? R. T., Long Beach.

Q. I've collected quite a stack of sports magazine which I hate to throw away. Do you know of any organization which might be able to use them? S. D., Long Beach.

A. Yes on both counts for this double-header. Youngsters being tutored by the Long Beach Community Improvement League will eagerly accept the magazines and models, says Harvey Williams, league president. He says the league needs toys or educational materials which will help the children "learn to use their minds and hands." The program, Williams says, attempts to give disadvantaged children 6 years and older a head start toward their schooling in the higher grades. To make arrangements, call 427-4820.

Q. Before trout season, I made a $50 deposit on a cabin at McGee Creek Lodge at Crowley Lake. A hand injury forced me to cancel the reservation, and I was told I'd get a partial refund. Well, no action yet. Can you help? W. W. W., Lakewood.

A. Yes. Lodge owner Eddie Stark told ACTION LINE refunds aren't usually made on opening season reservations, but yours is an exceptional case. He says you'll receive your partial refund immediately.

Q. Two years ago we met pianist Lionel Hampton in Las Vegas, and he took an interest in our two children. He told us he'd like to attend our son's Bar Mitzvah, and gave me his address which I've since lost. Can you help me get the address again? Mrs. M. W., Lakewood.

A. Yes. Hampton's home address is unavailable, but you can reach him by writing to the Associated Booking Corp., 9477 Brighton Way, Beverly Hills. The letter will be forwarded to Hampton in Baltimore, where he'll be playing in September. Kentucky-born Hampton is a pianist, singer and drummer, but is best known for his artistry on the vibraphone. He has been called the "only musician who has extracted genuine marvels from this unrewarding instrument."

SOUND OFF!

It's time for swimming pool owners to take steps to prevent water tragedies. Although even some public pools don't have adequate protection, it's the private pools which pose the greatest danger for some young nonswimmers to meet death. When a pool is unguarded, it's usually out of carelessness on the part of the pool's owner or the child's parents—or both. To remedy this, people who own pools should always know who is in them and should never allow kids to play in water unsupervised. Also, parents shouldn't let their youngsters swim in a friend's unguarded pool. Both the Red Cross and the Long Beach Fire Department have information available to the public about water safety and artificial respiration. I hope many will take advantage of this service, and avert the usual summer tragedies. — C.S., Long Beach.

REACTION

In response to the woman who found none of the people of Long Beach smiling at her or her children, I'd like to say maybe she should smile first. As a native Californian, I've found that the people from this state, especially in Southern California, are some of the most outgoing in the world. In fact, many of the people accused of being "cold Californians" are in fact residents of other states recently moved to California. Maybe Mrs. K. H. is letting her worry show on her face. Maybe if she'll smile a little first, she'll find others smiling back at her. Mrs. S.J., Seal Beach.

RETURNS IT TO BANK

Woman Finds $15,000 on Pine Ave.

By VINT MADER

Mrs. Eileen Wiebler, of 1339 E. 57th St., went downtown Friday to pay some bills.

She could settle a couple because it was payday for her bus driver husband, Frank.

By the time she finished, she handled enough cash to pale anybody's payday.

Strolling toward the main entrance of Bank of America at Fourth Street and Pine Avenue for her first call, the 35-year-old mother of five, saw a small cloth bag lying by a stone pillar.

"First I kicked it," she said later. "You know how you'll kick a sack — and I said to myself, 'It's empty.'"

The bag contained $15,000 in used, untraceable bills.

Mrs. Wiebler picked it up with mild interest, then noticed it was tied at the neck, had a tag bearing some figures and seemed like bank property.

"So I took it in and gave it to a girl and said, 'Here I found this outside,' she recalled.

"Ok, thanks," replied the teller in the calmest banking terms, and passed the bag along.

Mrs. Wiebler completed her own transaction and continued her downtown rounds. But she continued to wonder about the drab little bag and decided to drop back to the bank to check on it.

Bank officials told her it was, indeed, a bag of money and was safely restored to the vault. On that visit, she also saw the Loomis Armored Car Service driver who had lost it, but she did not learn who he was.

"He came in and asked the girl if she'd seen a bag. As soon as she said they had it, he went out again," said Mrs. Wiebler.

Officials told her the bag had fallen off a stack that was being wheeled out of the bank to the truck, and had probably lain unnoticed for half an hour.

The North Long Beach housewife went home, still under the impression that the figures on the tag indicated she had recovered $15,000.

"That's just fantastic!" she said, when told that the

Racial Violence Spreads

Englewood, N.J.,
Police Injured,
Windows Smashed

Combined News Services

Racial violence spread into Englewood, N.J., Friday night as bands of young Negroes pelted police and smashed store windows with rocks in the predominantly-Negro Fourth Ward. Three policemen were injured.

Mayor Austin N. Volk ordered the city's 68-man police force into the area to restore peace. Thirty Bergen County troopers armed with shotguns and scores of police from surrounding communities were rushed in to help.

Rain fell lightly on this city of 30,000 residents two miles west of the George Washington Bridge linking New Jersey and New York City as groups of young Negroes began hurling rocks and bottles through store windows.

Negroes make up 25 per cent of the population of Englewood, which six years ago was thrust into the national spotlight by a school desegregation controversy.

Shortly after the disorder broke out Friday, three policemen suffered cuts and bruises from the barrage of missiles and were taken to Englewood Hospital for treatment.

NATIONAL Guardsmen moved into the racially-troubled North Side of Minneapolis Friday night as fire broke out in the area for the third night in a row.

A two-alarm fire struck St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church and school only a few blocks from the site of three North Side fires Thursday night.

Officials were unable to say immediately whether

Some Smog Expected in L.B. Area

Moderate smog is predicted for the Los Angeles Basin today, but it will be lighter in and near Long Beach than it will be inland. The Air Pollution Control District declared a first-stage smog alert Friday afternoon for the East San Fernando Valley and suspended it three hours later. It was L.A. County's first official smog alert of 1967.

Weekend weather will show little tendency toward change. Long Beach, at least on the south side of Signal Hill, will have a high of 78 today while Los Angeles will swelter under 90-degree heat.

The desert will enjoy a cool spell — it is unlikely temperatures will rise above 115 today.

MINIMUM INSURANCE ON CARS UP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday signed into law a bill increasing the minimum amounts of insurance coverage which California motorists must carry.

The measure, by Assemblyman F. James Bear, D-San Diego, will have the effect of raising the insurance premiums of most drivers.

The bill increases from $10,000 to $15,000 the minimum financial responsibility for the injury or death of one person in any one accident and from $20,000 to $30,000 the minimum liability for the injury or death of two or more persons in a single accident.

335 Reds Killed in GI Ambush

SAIGON, Saturday (UPI) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces killed 335 Communists in two widely separated battles Friday, military spokesmen said today.

American Marines swept two North Vietnamese battalions into the waiting guns of South Vietnamese paratroopers, and the government forces reported killing 245 Communists in heavy fighting just south of the demilitarized zone.

Basil Rathbone Dies at 75; Films' Sherlock Holmes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor Basil Rathbone, famed for his movie portrayals of the fictional detective "Sherlock Holmes," died of a heart attack Friday. He was 75.

Rathbone succumbed in his Manhattan apartment shortly after the seizure, according to his daughter, Cynthia Rathbone.

A stage actor since 1911, Rathbone was an accomplished Shakespearean performer for decades before teaming up with the late Nigel Bruce in 1937 in the first of the films based on the "Sherlock Holmes" stories created by A. Conan Doyle.

In later years, he would receive fan mail addressed to "Sherlock Holmes."

Rathbone defected from Hollywood in the late 1940's, declaring:

"Hollywood gets waves of enthusiasm; you're a terrific success, you're a vogue, and then they drop you for somebody else. I played Sherlock Holmes for seven years and nobody thought I could do anything else. They put you in a slot and the slot pays off for a time — and then you're just left in it."

RATHBONE later made films in England, many of them of the "horror" variety. His favorite stage role was Romeo in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

The 6-foot-1 actor with penetrating black eyes appeared to many fans to be the incarnation of the imaginary Holmes when he donned the famed two-peaked deerstalker hat and puffed on an underslung pipe.

With the portly Bruce at his side as the well-meaning but bumbling Dr. Watson, Rathbone starred in such classic Sherlock Holmes movies as "The Scarlet Claw" and the "Hound of the Baskervilles."

Rathbone and Bruce made 11 of the Sherlock Holmes movies during an eight-year period, and also portrayed Holmes and Watson for years in a radio serial.

Born June 13, 1892, at Transvaal, South Africa, Rathbone was the first of his family to become an actor. His father, Edgar, was an engineer and his uncle,

Valve Leak on Island at Fault

By WALT MURRAY

A thin film of crude oil coated North Orange County beaches Friday and the U.S. Coast Guard blamed a leaky transfer valve on Oil Island for the spill.

Long Beach Coast Guard officials said some 60 barrels of crude oil leaked from the island, located three miles off Seal Beach, before the valve was repaired.

Drilling operations on the island are under the direction of Standard Oil of California. Efforts to contact the company Friday night were fruitless.

The oil was first spotted at about 4:30 p.m. by an Orange County Harbor Department patrol boat near the entrance of Anaheim Bay.

Sgt. Raymond Graham of the department said the oil slick touched the beach between Seal Beach Pier and Anaheim Bay early Friday night, and was about 200 yards out to sea off Surfside.

"The slick extended out between Seal Beach and the oil island," Sgt. Graham said. "It's not nearly as big as the oil spills last summer."

Seal Beach police said city crews would start cleanup operations today along the east part of their beach.

Lifeguards said the oil left stain lines along the sand but did not form into larry globs when it washed ashore.

A crude oil smell permeated the air Friday night along the beach from the spill.

Tshombe's Death
Could Mean War

Combined News Services

UNITED NATIONS — Western delegates warned Friday if the Congo executed former Premier Moise Tshombe it may invite a "full-scale civil war." They also termed the Algerian decision to extradite Tshombe to the Congo a "shabby deal" very questionable in the eyes of international law. They said Algeria should have sent Tshombe back to Spain. However, most African diplomats averred "the Congo and the rest of Africa is sick of Tshombe." They claimed it was "high time" to end the Tshombe chapter in Congo's history. In Kinshasa, Congo President Joseph Desire Mobutu indicated Tshombe will be executed swiftly and without a new trial. "As far as we are concerned this man has been tried. He is a man who no longer exists," the President said. Tshombe's transfer from an Algerian military stockade to the Congo is expected to be secret to frustrate any attempt by white mercenaries or others to free him by force. The United States said it had observed a strict "hands-off" attitude on the matter ever since Tshombe was seized by Algerian authorities. U.S. sources said Tshombe's statement he was a victim of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was "invalid and would be denied, if necessary."

580 Refugees Flee Rebel Nigeria

LAGOS — An Italian rescue ship sailed into Lagos Friday night with 580 foreign refugees from war-torn eastern Nigeria, including more than 100 U.S. Peace Corps volunteers. They said they had slept in the open and gone without food during the 22-hour voyage. The liner was permitted to sail through a Nigerian naval blockade to remove the foreigners from the eastern region, which has declared its independence and gone to war with the federal government.

Peking Power Showdown Near

TOKYO — Supporters of Chinese Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung intensified their propaganda campaign against Mao's enemies as evidence piled up Friday that a showdown may be coming. A correspondent reported from Peking the party's central committee had accused President Liu Shao-Chi of plotting a counter attack against Mao. A Shanghai newspaper denounced deposed party propaganda chief Tao Chu Thursday in what the Japanese News Agency Kyodo said was the first attack which denounced Tao by name. Meanwhile the Reds said it had put a British newsmen under house arrest in Peking because of a jail sentence imposed on a Chinese reporter in Hong Kong.

Congo Rescue Mission Fails

KINSHASA, The Congo — An unarmed Red Cross C46 transport plane returned Friday night from a rebel mercenary stronghold without hostages it had hoped to evacuate. The government immediately slapped a ban of silence on the mission. The plane took off early Friday, and landed at Pania, about 1,000 miles east of Kinshasa.

Jean Schramm, commandant of the mercenary force, met the plane in a clearing. He refused to permit the evacuation of about 20 persons the mercenaries are believed holding. The mercenaries, reliable sources said, had not been informed of the mission.

Greek Government Extends Rule

ATHENS — The government has extended its powers to punish expatriate Greeks who discredit their native country or its rulers. A "Constitution Act" approved July 14 expanded legislation empowering the minister of interior to strip of their citizenship and their wealth any Greeks abroad engaging in "antinational acts." It was on the basis of this legislation, published here Friday, that actress Melina Mercouri, was stripped of her Greek citizenship.

Budget Deficit
at $9.9 Billion

WASHINGTON — The government reported Friday an administrative budget deficit of $9.9 billion for the fiscal year just ended — the largest in eight years and the second highest in "peacetime" history. Cost of the Vietnam war exceeded $20 billion. The deficit was $1.1 billion below estimates given last May to the House Ways and Means Committee for the year which ended June 30. But it was $200 million above January's forecast. Estimates of the deficit for the new year range from $13.6 billion to more than $20 billion. A report by Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Budget Bureau Director Charles L. Schultze listed receipts for the 1967 fiscal year at $115.8 billion — $1.2 billion below January's estimate — and spending at $125.7 billion — $1 billion below expectations. The report showed a national income accounts budget deficit of $7.5 billion, the highest in 21 years. The deficit was the largest since the $12.4 billion — the peace time record — of the year which ended June 30, 1959. It compared with a $2.25 billion deficit during the previous year.

No Progress in Rubber Strike

Pentagon Waiver Has Leprosy

WASHINGTON — A Filipino waiter in Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's mess has been found to have leprosy, the Pentagon's health chief said Friday. Some 85 senior Pentagon officials eat in the mess, which is on the third floor of the Pentagon.

Garrison Subpoenaed in Trial

NEW ORLEANS — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison and the New Orleans Grand Jury were subpoenaed Friday to appear next week for newsmen Walter Sheridan of NBC in connection with the Kennedy assassination inquiry. Sheridan, charged with trying to bribe probe witness Perry Raymond Russo, has asked Dist. Judge Bernard J. Bagert to quash a grand jury subpoena for the newsmen. Sheridan was charged with attempted bribery and was subpoenaed before the grand jury after he participated in an NBC program criticizing methods used by Garrison.

Demo Says GOP Favors Rats

WASHINGTON — Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey accused House Republicans Friday of favoring rats over people. Deploring refusal to consider a rat extermination bill, Bailey said every American should remember "this pro-rat, anti-people vote of the House Republicans." The House voted 207 to 176 Thursday to lay aside a measure authorizing a $40-million campaign against rats in city slum areas.

Explorer Readies Moon Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY — America's Lunar Explorer spacecraft, built to scout for radiation hazards facing moon-bound astronauts, successfully shifted its pointing direction Friday as it aimed to ride into orbit around the moon today. ## Divorce Ends Bishop Pike's Marriage

Combined News Services

Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, one of the nation's most outspoken clergymen, and his wife agreed Friday to end their 23-year marriage. It will be his second divorce.

The stormy prelate resigned last year as leader of the California diocese to become a member of a Southern California based study institute.

Pike's resignation came after fellow bishops decided to make an inquiry into charges of heresy and "irresponsibility" leveled against him. The charges stemmed from Pike's challenges to the virgin birth, incarnation and Resurrection.

The divorce suit was initiated in San Francisco by the bishop's wife, Esther, on grounds of mental cruelty. The bishop said he would not contest.

In a statement signed by both, they said their troubles were "personal" and both agreed to say nothing beyond the statement. They had been separated since Jan. 16, 1965.

"It is with regret we announce the institution of legal proceedings to dissolve our marriage," they said in the statement.

"This action is not taken in contemplation of the remarriage of either party; outside factors beyond the control of either of us have contributed for some time to our drifting apart, though we have earnestly sought a solution and although we retain respect and affection for each other."

INDIAN STAND

The ABC television network's scheduled series on Gen. George A. Custer drew criticism Friday from a national Indian organization.

A. A. Hopkins Dukes, director of the Tribal Land Rights Association, said he is attempting to unite the nation's 600,000 Indians in protest against the series.

He contends Custer endorsed a policy of mass genocide against the Indians. The association may seek a federal injunction to stop the series, said Hopkins-Dukes, himself a Kiowa Indian.

Herman McDaniels, 29, a Negro, took Joyce Prescott, a white woman, as his "lawfully wedded wife," Friday despite a Tennessee law the forbids intermarriages. The couple had been denied a license three times, but one issued Friday after Asst. Atty. Gen. Milton Rice ruled it was not the duty of the issuing officer to make a determination of race.

Rice also noted the U.S. Supreme Court recently struck down a similar anti-miscegenation law in Virginia. Thus, although the Tennessee law remains on the books, it apparently is invalid.

PAPAL TRIP

A United States jetliner will fly Pope Paul VI on his "peace pilgrimage" to Turkey next week. A Boeing 707 of the Pan American World Airways will take the pontiff to Istanbul Tuesday as part of a regularly scheduled flight. Then, flying as a "special section," it will be flown to Izmir in Turkish Asia Minor to be available for the return flight to Rome Wednesday.

This will be the first time that an entire papal trip abroad will be carried out aboard a U.S. airliner.

RETRIAL SET

A Superior Court jury in El Centro, deliberated for only 35 minutes Friday and ruled accused rape-slayer Robert E. Pennington is sane, clearing the way for a new trial. Pennington took the decision calmly.

Judge Elmer W. Heald then scheduled the retrial for July 26, five days before the 60-day deadline imposed by the state Supreme Court's reversal would have expired.

Baby Patrick Lyndon Nugent will spend two weeks in the White House with his grandparents next month while his folks take a second honeymoon.

While Lyn is in the White House, a special nurse hired by Mrs. Johnson as a gift to Luci is expected to care for him. She is Mary Feller, the same nurse who took care of Luci when she was a baby.

Friends of the couple reported the trip is a birthday gift from President Johnson to his son-in-law, who was 24 on July 9.

SIX IN BATTLE

The number of persons battling to be named administrator of Jayne Mansfield's $800,000 estate jumped to six Friday with the application of William E. Pigue and his wife.

At the same time, a hearing on the appointment was continued until Aug. 18.

Thursday, the Pignes were named legal guardians of Miss Mansfield's eldest daughter, Jayne Marie, 16. Pigue's attorney claimed he wants the position only if Miss Mansfield's third husband, director Matt Cimber, who is now acting administrator, is not given the appointment.

MEREDITH KIN

Willy Lee Meredith, 22, sister of Negro civil rights leader James Meredith, was found dead Friday, hanging from a gas pipe in the basement where she lived in Milwaukee.

The Milwaukee County medical examiner's office tentatively listed the death as suicide. Authorities said she left no note or had any communication with her relatives in Milwaukee, which might have given an indication about suicide.

LUTHULI DIES

Albert Luthuli, 69, a Zulu chief whose struggle for equality for South Africa's black population won him the Nobel Peace Prize, was struck and killed by a train Friday while walking across a railroad bridge.

Luthuli, former president of the banned African National Congress, had been gradually going blind. It was believed he failed to see the train coming.

He was awarded the 1960 prize. He had been barred from all political activity by the South African government, but was permitted in 1961 to go to Oslo to receive the prize.

Beck made the announcement just before Reagan signed a bill extending the life of the commission. The job pays $1,049 a month.

9,000 Color TVs Hunted; Possible Radiation Hazards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unknown owners of some 9,000 large-screen color television sets were told by the government Friday to disconnect them immediately pending a check on possible radioac-tivity. The television sets involved are large-screen color consoles and table models made by the General Electric Co. and purchased between Sept. 1, 1966, and May 31, 1967. Small-screen color and black and white receivers are not involved. A spokesman for GE said the sets involved are those having 18, 20, 22 and 23 inch screens, diagonal measurement.

Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the Public Health Service issued the warning after General Electric, despite a nationwide search, reported failure to locate about one-tenth of the sets the company suspected of emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

DR. STEWART said tests of tubes supplied by the manufacturer indicated that a "large percentage" of the tubes leaked radiation at levels "representing a potential hazard to human health."

The tubes involved in the warning and tested by the government laboratory were identified by these numbers: 6EF4 and 6LCS.

Owners of the sets are advised to notify a General Electric dealer or service agency or state or local health department before using them. Stewart praised the manufacturer for doing an outstanding job in locating and correcting more than 100,000 sets. The search involved General Electric's entire distributor-dealer organization and about 80,000 independent servicemen.

General Electric discovered the possibility that some of their sets were leaking X-rays from shunt regulator tubes and notified the government and the public service months ago.

The Radiological Health Center Laboratory tested 185 tubes and found that only 23 per cent emitted radiation below levels considered to be in the range of safety.

IN SYRACUSE, N.Y., a spokesman for GE's major television department said: "We hope the surgeon general's statement will help us locate the remaining unmodified sets. Color sets to be modified have a blue fine-tune gauge above the control knobs, and have on the back of the set either a serial number sticker beginning with OA or OD or no serial number at all."

"Receivers which already have been modified have a red and white label pasted on the back covering regulator tube replacement." General Electric announced on May 18 this year that it was undertaking a nationwide modification program to eliminate excessive radiation in about 90,000 of its color television sets. The company said at that time the changes involved replacement of a regulator tube and adjustment of the power supply to eliminate what the firm called "emission of soft-radiation in excess of desirable levels."

PRESIDENT Johnson pauses to chat with two young admirers at the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md. during his inspection of the world's largest medical research center Friday.

LBJ Renews Pledge to War on Disease

New York Times Service

BETHESDA, Md.—President Johnson visited the National Institutes of Health here Friday to renew his commitment, as he put it, to the war on sickness and disease.

Calling attention to the "billion-dollar success story" of the work of the institutes and some of medical science's major achievements, the President pleaded for continued congressional support. Plainly concerned about economy-minded legislators, he argued that "even the most cynical" among them should be able to embrace the nonpartisan goal of a healthier life for all people.

Of greatest importance, he said, was basic research — the pursuit of knowledge for its own sake. Government was the only patron wealthy enough to support it, he said, noting that the federal government's $1.4-billion program was nearly two-thirds of the nation's total expenditures for health research.

RECALLING congressional action to save baby calves from the screwworm, he remarked, "Someday we are going to get intelligent enough to treat our children the same way."

Johnson also appeared to link the critics of his tactics in Vietnam with those who doubt the efficacy of medical science.

"Some, I am sure — the hotshots — would think we have reached what you might call a stalemate," he said, invoking the Vietnam allusion, "because we have not found all the answers to all the questions in all the 365 days since we last ran our check — our final exam."

But in two years, he noted, a new vaccine has been developed to guard against German measles in pregnant women, thus avoiding the risk of deformed infants. Infant mortality, the President said, took its sharpest drop in 10 years during the past 12 months. New chemicals are saving thousands from blindness each year, he added, and modern drugs have reduced deaths from high blood pressure by 50 per cent over the last decade.

JOHNSON flew by helicopter from the White House to the institutes' clinical center. He inspected an automated laboratory, an open-heart surgery room and machines that detect tumors and cancer with the use of radiological isotopes.

In a conference with institute directors, he heard several discussions of major achievements and problems, including a warning from Dr. Kenneth M. Endicott, director of the National Cancer Institute, that much more research was needed to make cigarettes safer while the public is made more aware of the dangers. He also expressed the view that leukemia in children was a virus disease that will one day be prevented with vaccines and cured with drugs.

Dr. Donald S. Fredrickson, director of the National Heart Institute, reported on what promised to be "the first leveling off or down trend in mortality from heart attacks."

Craftsmen Pay Hiked by Board

The Los Angeles Board of Education has approved pay raises totaling more than $512,000 for about 1,460 skilled craftsmen.

Expected to receive 5 to 24 cents hourly increases were carpenters, electricians, locksmiths, painters, plumbers, metal workers and roofers.

The raises are included in a $650 million budget expected to be adopted Aug. 3.

Two Police Officers Beaten in County Courthouse Fracas

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two policemen were attacked and beaten Friday in the corridor of the county courthouse by four men, including two brothers whom the officers had arrested two months ago.

Authorities said one of the officers, J. P. Hurley, suffered a broken arm while the second, B. E. Murphy, was almost strangled with his own tie. Each of the officers also lost a tooth and suffered facial cuts.

The officers had arrested the brothers, Roy Colbert, 21, and Howard Colbert, 23, along with a third man, Gregory Allen Benson, 23, all of Los Angeles, last May 10. No charges were filed against the brothers, but a complaint was issued charging Benson with three counts of carrying a concealed weapon.

The officers were in court Friday as witnesses for the prosecution at Benson's trial. The Colbert brothers were defense witnesses.

The officers said that when they left the courtroom after the trial's morning session, the Colberts and two other men followed them.

The policemen said the four men cursed and berated them as they went from the seventh floor to the fourth floor of the courthouse.

When they had reached the fourth floor, the officers said they were jumped by the four, and one of the assailants attempted to grab Hurley's service revolver during the fracas.

The sheriff's deputies and county marshals rushed to the aid of the policemen and seized the brothers but the other two men escaped.

Hurley and Murphy arrested Benson after allegedly finding a .25-caliber and two .38-caliber revolvers in his car.

COURT ORDER ABC Merger Plans Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday stayed at least until July 31 the merger of ABC and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. The consolidation had been scheduled to become effective next Tuesday.

Ruling on a Justice Department request for delay, a three-judge panel directed ABC and ITT to file before 4 p.m. EDT next Thursday their answers to a department motion for an injunction to block the merger until the court rules on its "over-all validity."

The court then set 10 a.m. July 31 for arguments on the government's motion.

These orders of the court, headed by Chief Judge David L. Bazelon, were issued a few hours after it had heard 45 minutes of arguments on the department's request for a temporary stay.

The Federal Communications Commission approved the $2.8-billion consolidation — biggest ever in broadcasting — on June 22 for a second time. Each vote was 4 to 3.

Earlier Friday, the Justice Department appealed the FCC action, challenging virtually every reason the commission gave for approving the merger.

In reaction to the litigation, ABC stock on the New York Stock Exchange plummeted $21.88 Friday to $80.13.

Herbert A. Bergson, representing ABC and ITT, told the court that the Justice Department's part in the merger proceeding so far has been one of continual delay. He said the department has failed to show that it stands a good chance of succeeding in its appeal and argued that the merger should be permitted to be consummated on Tuesday as scheduled.

But under questioning by Bazelon, Bergson conceded "I can't argue to you that a week's stay is going to make all the difference in the world."

ACLU Suit Challenges State 'Syndicalism' Law

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union filed suit in federal court Friday challenging constitutionality of California's criminal syndicalism law.

A hearing will be held Aug. 1 by U.S. Dist. Judge William P. Gray on the ACLU's request that a three-judge federal panel examine the statute, which the ACLU claimed is outdated, vague and violates the rights of free speech and freedom of the press. The syndicalism act makes it a crime to advocate unlawful acts of force and violence to effect political or industrial ownership change.

The ACLU suit was brought on behalf of John Harris Jr., 23, who faces trial Aug. 14 on a charge of syndicalism stemming from the inquest May 25, 1966, into the death of Negro motorist Leonard Deadwyler.

The Harris case marked the first time in 29 years the charge of syndicalism has been levied here.

During the inquest, Harris allegedly distributed anti-police, pro-revolutionary leaflets.

The coroner's jury inquest termed the killing of the Los Angeles motorist by a white policeman was "accidental." Also named as plaintiffs in the ACLU suit were two alleged members of the Progressive Labor Party and a history instructor at Los Angeles Valley College in Van Nuys.

The suit identified the party members as Dianne Hirsch and Jim Dan. The teacher was identified as Farrel Broslawsky.

Cessna Engine Buried in Death-Jet Fuselage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The collision of a Piedmont airliner and a light plane left an engine of the smaller craft buried in the belly of the jet, it was learned Friday.

Investigators found the left engine of the twin-engine Cessna 310 still embedded in the fuselage of the 727 jet after both planes plunged to earth over the south end of Asheville-Hendersonville, N.C., Airport Wednesday.

Sources, meantime, disputed a claim by a lawyer for the firm that owned the Cessna that its pilot might have received last-minute flight instruction changes from the control tower that left him no time to avoid the wreck that claimed 82 lives.

The sources said the Cessna had received an "amended clearance" but that the change in instructions came while the Cessna was still well away from the airport.

Twelve Arrested in Raids on 2 L.A. Gambling Clubs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two social clubs were raided Friday by police and federal agents who arrested 12 owners and employees on charges of conspiracy to commit gambling.

Officers said the two clubs, the Golden Ring and United Veterans Club, allegedly did thousands of dollars of business a day in card and dice games and averaged about $250 an hour during their round-the-clock operation. The raiding officers were armed with secret indictments returned Thursday against 14 persons by the county grand jury. Eleven of the 12 arrested at the two clubs were named in the indictments.

The other three indicted were still at large. A police officer described the two clubs as "barred and barricaded, fortress-type" structures. "They were tougher to get into than Fort Knox," he said.

Federal agents participated in the raid to check on liquor sales and possible income tax evasion.

Rhonda's Long Locks Shorn

By HAL LOWE

Rhonda Karlton, 15, of Lakewood, is feeling light-headed... a heavy load has been lifted from her young shoulders.

Rhonda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Karlton of 5715 Tanglewood St., visited a barber shop Friday and over two pounds of her hair was shorn.

Until then, Rhonda's bright red tresses had never felt the touch of the barber's shears, and had grown some 54 inches in length.

The Lakewood High School student said she decided it was time she converted to a more fashionable short hairdo. Two years ago, her sister, Joanne, now 18, also took the big step and had her 48-inch tresses cut. Joanne's hair has been growing back at a fast pace and now extends to her shoulders.

"I TOLD the kids at school that in the fall I would return with short hair," Rhonda said. "I hope they recognize me."

Rhonda declared she didn't want any pictures taken of her new style right away, and preferred pictures be of her "before."

"I'll have to get used to the new style before I let anyone take my picture," she said.

She said she became used to getting stopped on the street by strangers who asked how long her hair was, and how many years she let it grow. Also, boys at school long ago stopped pulling her hair.

"The boys were a problem for a while," Rhonda said. "But I have gone to school with the same bunch of kids for a long time and the boys just tired of pulling tricks with my hair."

Rhonda's shorn red locks will be made into a hair switch. Mrs. Karlton said that the family had been offered $400 for the cut hair but, like sister Joanne's hair, they plan to save it.

While the "new" Rhonda Karlton is out trying her short hairdo on sightseers, she hopes she can get over that light-headed feeling.

"The biggest advantage with the new hair style," said Rhonda, an ardent swimmer, "is that now I won't have to shop for an oversized bathing cap to wear."

BIG SISTER Joanne, now 18, enacts role of barber as 15-year-old Rhonda Karlton of Lakewood prepares to lose most of her 54-inch-long red tresses in favor of more fashionable short hairdo.

L.A. Harbor Will Negotiate On Secondary Oil Recovery

The Los Angeles Harbor Department staff has been directed to begin negotiations and enter into an agreement with oil production companies to conduct secondary oil recovery operations on port property.

An agreement approved by the Board of Harbor Commissioners provides for the payment, as reserve share on oil, gas and other recoverable hydrocarbons, of a sum equal to 16 2/3 per cent of the sale of the production realized.

Bernard J. Caughlin, port general manager, said the biddable factor in the proposed agreement is a percentage of the net proceeds for the City of Los Angeles through the Harbor Department.

The area in which the secondary recovery methods will be employed is in the port's Lower Railroad Classification Yard, north of Anaheim Street adjacent to the Dominguez Channel.

Earlier, the Commission authorized Caughlin to advertise for bids for oil exploration and production in the same area. Since then, oil companies having leases on adjacent lands have been joining in a unitizing agreement.

Pietro Di Carlo, commission president, said the recent action by the commission authorizes the Harbor Department to participate in the unit.

Warehouse Demolition OK'd to Clear Route to Harbor

Before the end of July, wrecking crews will start demolishing the west wing of Warehouse 12 as part of a project to provide a more direct route to outer harbor facilities, according to Bernard J. Caughlin, general manager of the Port of Los Angeles.

Caughlin said the end of the shed would be removed to make way for an extension of Harbor Boulevard to connect with 22nd Street. The project also includes elimination of the viaduct at the extension of 16th Street.

A contract for $81,893 has been awarded to W. F. Hathaway of Chino, lowest of seven bidders, to demolish the warehouse.

State OKs $2 Million for Road Work in L.B.

More than $2 million for acquisition of rights of way and relocation of utilities for road construction in the Long Beach area, under the federal aid to secondary road projects, has won approval of the California Highway Commission.

Involved in the project is the construction of Willow Street as a four-lane divided roadway between Long Beach Boulevard in Long Beach and Redondo Avenue in Signal Hill — a distance of 2.2 miles.

In addition, the commission set aside a portion of available traffic safety funds for 16 projects — including several in the Long Beach area — that would improve conditions at areas of "accident concentration."

Among them are closed intersections, modified lighting and traffic signals for Pacific Coast Highway between Francisca Avenue and Comelian Street and Gertrude Avenue and Beryl Street in Redondo Beach. The cost will be $61,000, with the state paying $46,000 and the city paying the balance.

Also, installation of guard railing on Long Beach Freeway between Artesia Boulevard and Route 1, and on the San Diego Freeway between Harbor Boulevard in Costa Mesa and Wardlow Road in Long Beach. Estimated cost is $32,000.

In addition new traffic signals and channeling of traffic on Sepulveda Boulevard between 30th and 33rd Streets in Manhattan Beach were approved at a cost of $17,000, with the state to pay $12,000 of the total.

A 32-foot cabin cruiser, in the process of repossessing a 38-foot Chris Craft yacht, Friday towed the larger vessel onto a reef off Huntington Beach.

In the ensuing confusion, the smaller vessel was rammed by the larger craft and broke up shortly before room in the pounding surf, beach authorities said.

Huntington Beach Harbor and Beaches spokesmen told The Independent Press Telegram that the cruiser Yvonne, with Mary Ellen Over, 36, of 5712 Louis St., at the helm, was proceeding to Long Beach from Newport, where it had repossessed the $30,000 yacht Pablo.

"There was zero wind and about 100 yards visibility," the spokesman said.

But off Station 14, the larger craft apparently was towed onto a reef, the spokesman said. The Yvonne was either yanked back into the Pablo by the force of the pressure on the line or by reversing the engines, the spokesman said.

The Yvonne began taking water and settled. Both Capt. Over and her passenger, George H. Callera, 49, of 606 Newport Ave., made it to shore. No one was aboard the Pablo.

The owner of record of the Pablo — the Coast Bank — authorized tow of the vessel by Marine Devices Inc. and the craft was taken to Long Beach Harbor. The Yvonne "broke up before 11 a.m." in the pounding surf, authorities said.

JUDGMENT

A 24-year-old Negro aircraft worker, who is studying to be a commercial airplane pilot, has received a $250 consent judgment against a Long Beach apartment manager for violation of the Unruh Civil Rights Act.

James L. Russell, of 1892 Locust Ave., filed suit against the owners of the Bolero Apartments, 4228 Lakewood Blvd. — Daniel I. and Mildred Becker — and their agent, Jerry Moran, on grounds Moran refused to rent him an apartment on Sept. 3, 1966 and again on Oct. 15, 1966, when apartments were for rent.

He had asked $250 damages, plus $2,000 punitive damages, on each of two counts in his suit.

FATALITY

Roy Armstrong, 31, a Long Beach-based Marine, who may have fallen asleep at the wheel shortly before his vehicle struck a utility pole, killing his wife and injuring him and another serviceman, police said Friday.

Armstrong, stationed aboard the USS Yorktown, was taken to Long Beach Naval Hospital along with Robert Melser, 27, a shipmate.

Maria L. Armstrong, 32, died of head injuries at 4:12 a.m. Friday, about two hours after the single-car mishap at Pacific Coast Highway and Cota Avenue.

DISMOUNTED

A 15-year-old Garden Grove girl is in a Pueblo, Colo., hospital after falling from a horse at a Colorado dude ranch.

win Hospital following an emergency airlift from the Don K Guest Ranch, 20 miles west of Pueblo. She suffered head injuries.

An Army helicopter from Fort Carson picked up the girl and ferried her to the Pueblo hospital.

L.B. Hosts 98,055 in Conventions

A total of 61 conventions were held in Long Beach in the first six months of this year, according to Bob Lichtenhan, manager of the Long Beach Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Lichtenhan said that the number of conventions held in the first half of 1967 exceeded the six-month total of 1966 by 15. Last year, 46 groups convened in the city in a like period.

A total of 98,055 delegates attended the 1967 meetings while 80,050 attended the 1966 meetings.

On a month-to-month basis, June, 1967, showed the highest total of groups meetings in the city, with 14. This was followed by April and May, 1967 with 13 meetings held each month.

In the 1966 period, the top month for conventions in the city, was May when 10 groups convened here.

SACRAMENTO — The Senate Rules Committee has approved a resolution calling for possible establishment of a new state college in southwest Los Angeles County.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena-Long Beach, the author, wants the Coordinating Council for Higher

Included is the South Bay area involved in the controversy over the campus that eventually became California State College at Dominguez Hills.

Sen. Dills predicted the resolution probably will be on the Senate floor next week. It first must receive a fiscal approval from the Senate Finance Committee.

Reagan, Nixon Both State No Politickin' at the Camp

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan and Richard M. Nixon both declared Friday they would not make any political deals when they meet at an exclusive Northern California resort this weekend.

Their comments in separate interviews were supported by the assessment of political experts close to the California governor and those who hope to propel him into the 1968 Republican nomination for president.

"I intend to listen," Reagan said of his visit to Bohemian Grove, site of an annual hideaway conference for wealthy and influential businessmen on the Russian River.

IN SAN FRANCISCO, Nixon told reporters "as far as this meeting is concerned I cannot emphasize too strongly that the Bohemian Grove is a very informal setting and we do not intend to have, shall we say, the Summit of Bohemia for the purpose of determining the future of the Republican Party in California and the nation."

The former vice president did say however, "I imagine, among other things discussed might be the prospects for 1968 and the roles of various officials involved."

But Nixon emphasized there would be no attempt on his part to deal for California's delegate votes at the 1968 GOP National Convention in view of Reagan's favorite son candidate.

Reagan was invited to the camp last winter.

NIXON WAS aware of this and said: "I found out about two or three weeks ago that I would be able to go, so I called him and said this would be a good time for us to get together. That's how it came about."

Asked if the 1968 convention would be discussed, Reagan said, "I just have a strange hunch that subject won't come up."

Reagan went into the session firmly intending to make no commitments about the 1968 race, his advisers said. Thus, if there was any talk of swinging the support of GOP conservatives who like both men, it would not come from Reagan.

Reagan's chances would soar if Nixon fares poorly in the early presidential primary contests.

Also attending the woods camp, conducted annually by the Bohemian Club of San Francisco, will be Sen. John R. Rorer, R-Tex.; former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's running mate in 1960 when Nixon ran against President Kennedy; Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, and U.S. Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Kirk visited former President Eisenhower before coming West.

MURPHY, one of those who invited Reagan to the camp last winter, lunched with Reagan Friday before they drove to the Russian River grove, an area surrounded by secrecy, Nixon already was there.

Sources close to the governor said Reagan will maintain his official "non-candidate" status in talks with Nixon and would not participate in any political "wheeling and dealing."

There already are signs of increasing Reagan support in the South, one of Nixon's strongholds. Kirk was one of Reagan's first important visitors after becoming governor.

Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee, was in San Francisco Friday, but said he would not attend the camp, which will draw hundreds of influential and wealthy business and professional men from throughout California and outside the state.

No one is allowed in the secluded grove without an invitation.

The only member of Reagan's staff to accompany him will be his personal bodyguard.

Reagan, Unruh Agree on $1-Billion Tax Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh have reached something of an agreement on what the lower House will do to Reagan's $1-billion tax bill, the governor's office reported Friday.

Press Secretary Paul Beck said the leaders had reached "a certain amount of understanding" on the measure, apparently in a long, private meeting Tuesday morning before the Revenue and Taxation Committee began considering the Senate-passed bill.

DEMOCRATIC Floor Leader George N. Zenovich, Fresno, issued a disclaimer to Beck's report and suggested the mere fact it was made public killed any chances it could be realized.

Administration spokesmen talked up a similar compromise—which also was made public—when the tax bill was before the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee. Senate Democrats quickly disowned it.

Nevertheless, the features of the reported Reagan-Unruh agreement closely paralleled an informal agreement reached Wednesday by the Assembly Democratic caucus.

Reports of the Reagan-Unruh meeting and the agreement reached by the Democratic caucus included these points:

—Unruh and other lower house Democrats bowed to Reagan's insistence that the state's $194-million cash-flow deficit be entirely paid off this fiscal year. Unruh had suggested it could be paid off over three years.

—The tax bill would be reduced no more than $50 million and the governor's proposal to extend the sales tax to repair services would be eliminated. The service tax had been expected to yield $40 million.

—About $150 million of Unruh's mammoth $375-million school aid-property tax plan would be incorporated in the tax bill for this fiscal year, earmarked entirely for improved school programs. And the 1200 million portion designed as property tax relief would be committed for next year.

The Revenue and Taxation Committee was scheduled to meet Monday to take action on the bill. Once it clears that committee, the measure was expected to sail through the Ways and Means Committee without amendment on its way to the Assembly floor.

MILITARY APPEALS BOARD: Probe Rank Use in Court Martial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Military Appeals ordered the Army Friday to hold a series of hearings to determine whether Maj. Gen. T. H. Lipscomb misused his rank to obtain stiff sentences in 17 cases.

If the Army finds he did it could bring new courts martial in those and dozens of other cases. Friday's decision involved three test cases filed by 17 soldiers.

"The unanimous opinion of the civilian tribunal was that a 'serious question of command control has been raised.' It ordered the cases reheard by an Army command higher than that of Lipscomb.

He is commanding general at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

THREE TEST cases were presented charging that the general had urged court martial officers under his command to give heavy sentences so he could negotiate guilty pleas in exchange for reduced sentences.

Lipscomb has admitted getting in touch with court martial officers about their sentences but has denied trying to influence their decisions.

Col. Daniel T. Ghent, a senior appellate defense counsel for the Army, said the outcome of some 72 cases depend upon the appeals court decision. He

2 Groups Stood Up by Powell

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — The unpredictable Adam Clayton Powell Friday stood up a convention of "Black Power" delegates waiting for him in Newark Friday and disappointed a delegation from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who said in New York they had arranged for Powell to be arrested.

Instead Powell sent word he would meet with news-
NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Floyd McKissick, director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), told a closed meeting Friday night his group is working for the recall of Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio. McKissick made the speech to delegates of the National Conference on Black Power, meeting here despite requests from Addonizio and Gov. Richard J. Hughes that it be shifted because of Newark's recent riots.

men today at Bimini, a British colony offshore from Florida.

The dapper Harlem Democrat's whereabouts were subject to conjecture much of Friday.

SPOKESMEN for the NAACP claimed he would appear in New York to surrender finally to New York County Sheriff John J. McCloskey. Powell is wanted in New York for contempt of court.

Sheriff McCloskey said he had not been at Kennedy Airport to meet planes on which Powell had been expected to arrive but had only a "no comment" when asked if there was an arrangement for the ousted congressman to surrender.

Two of Powell's lawyers and a pack of newsmen and photographers were waiting at Kennedy Airport but it was Powell's son, Adam Jr., who arrived.

MEANWHILE, delegates to an all-Negro Black Power conference in Newark, N.J., claimed Powell was en route and would attend. Powell is honorary chairman of the conference and helped organize the meeting.

The Black Power delegates also were left waiting.

Powell's Bimini friend said that there had been a mixup and that Powell had discussed going to the conference but had decided against it.

The NAACP officials had said flatly that Powell would appear in New York under an arrangement worked out with the courts by Robert L. Carter, chief legal counsel of the association, and Henry Williams, Powell's Harlem attorney.

The 59-year-old Powell has been in self-imposed exile on Bimini, a fishing paradise 60 miles off the southeast Florida coast.

there was any connection with racial violence that saw wholesale fire-bombing Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Guardsmen, called out by Gov. Harold LeVander, already had taken up standby positions in the North Side area after assembly at the city's armory, about two miles away.

Mayor Arthur Naftalin asked for 300 soldiers to spell weary policemen. LeVander doubled the number in granting the request.

IN ADJACENT St. Paul, meanwhile, police were riding four to a car and were armed with riot helmets and shotguns. However, no violence was reported.

The Minneapolis North Side has been the scene of rock-throwing, car tipping and fires for two nights. The fire department said 33 alarms were answered during a four-hour period Thursday night and early Friday. Damage totaled more than $500,000.

Negro spokesmen cite living conditions and lack of job opportunities as causes to the outbreak. But Naftalin said "ninety-nine per cent of the Negro community are terribly distressed by these incidents. The people behind them are beyond our reach."

U.N. Middle East Session Ends on Gruff Russian Note

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The General Assembly adjourned its Soviet-summoned emergency session on the Mideast crisis Friday night after the Soviet Union and the majority of the Communist bloc in effect publicly acknowledged their diplomatic failure before the nations of the world.

CAIRO (UPI) — Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Friday named a new war minister, the second since last month's Arab-Israeli war. Cairo Radio said Amin Huwaidy, a state minister, replaced Abdul Wahab Elbishi, who had taken over from Shams Badrans after the Arab defeat. Badrans had resigned.

Adjournment came shortly after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko warned that Israel's backers might eventually have to seek "support, if not rescue," from Moscow.

The Arab countries opposed a resolution sponsored by Austria, Finland and Sweden, adjourning the assembly session and transferring the Mideast crisis back to the Security Council. However, the measure was approved 63-26 with Israel among 27 countries abstaining.

The vote marked an end to the Soviet Union's most ambitious — and most spectacularly unsuccessful — diplomatic venture in the United Nations since its abortive attempt in 1960 to impose "troika" leadership of the organization under three veto-wielding secretaries general.

The current assembly exercise was designed to demonstrate Moscow's support for the Arab countries.

Gromyko took the rostrum after the vote to voice his warning against those who opposed anti-Israeli and pro-Arab measures the Soviets supported unsuccessfully during the session.

Gromyko said the assembly was prevented from ordering the withdrawal of Israeli forces from conquered Arab territories by the "stubborn resistance of the imperialist forces who stand behind Israel."

"It was the aggressor and its patrons — above all the United States of America — who voted against the decisions based on the principles of the U.N. charter," Gromyko said.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg took sharp issue with Gromyko, declaring that the Soviet assertion that Washington opposed a constructive resolution "is false — and those who level the charge know it most of all."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban said "Israel leaves the General Assembly with strengthened resolve to work for the attainment of a just and durable peace."

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The lights glare. The cameras roll. The actor sits in the movie set "restaurant" and nervously flicks at the tablecloth.

"Cut."

The director? No. The censor.

Flicking the tablecloth implied Mexican restaurants are dirty, he said. So the scene was cut from MGM's "Sol Madrid," filmed in Acapulco.

Mexico is making an all-out drive to attract U.S. moviemakers. But many of the producers leave learning their hair over Mexican censorship.

"No other country in the world, not even behind the Iron Curtain, has such nationalistic fixations and all-pervading censorship," said one U.S. screenwriter. "Mexicans simply have no sense of humor."

Mexico would like to see more U.S. movie companies work here instead of in Europe. But almost any plot which deals with Mexico is assailed as an attack against the nation.

From Wallace Beery's old film on Pancho Villa to 1967's "The Professionals," Hollywood-made films on Mexico are usually banned.

Mexico barred Frank Sinatra from the country after he made "Marriage on the Rocks," a comedy about border town quickie divorces. The movie portrayed border towns as dirty, Mexicans as thieves and Mexican officials as corrupt bribe-takers, government officials said.

By Mexican law, all film scripts must be submitted to the censor's office before permission to make the movie is granted. When filming begins, a censor sits on the set to ensure the script is followed. The producer pays the censor's salary of about $120 a week.

"Almost every country in the world has film censorship of some kind," said Hiram Garcia Borja, assistant director of the government's movie office. "Movies made here must reflect a correct image of Mexico. We do not allow filming of the negative aspects of Mexican life. These pictures are seen in the outside world." He continued:

"We have our complexes, I don't deny that. We may have an exaggerated nationalism, but no more so than the French. All nations have complexes. Many North Americans have complexes about being North Americans, even though it's a great country."

BOOK REVIEWS

Old Tales From Mrs. Orgel

THE ODD TALES OF IRENE ORGEL. By Irene Orgel. Eakins Press, $4.95.

It is a rare, rare occasion when the title of a book is relevant to the content. Titles most often are products of publishers and not authors. This accounts for the fact that they often seem arbitrary rather than purposeful statements of content.

But in the case of the Eakins Press and "The Odd Tales of Irene Orgel," the title is more than apt as an authentic description of the work. Miss Orgel's stories are odd, as the title implies.

Each tale carries with it a certain flavor of the mysterious. They deal with people isolated in terms of both physical and metaphysical reality. Though the protagonists vary from models posing in the nude to children crippled, they share a sense of remoteness and detachment that produces an odd effect not unlike that in the best of Katherine Mansfield's best short stories.

This is the first collection of Miss Orgel's work and, though it may lack a certain masculine appeal, it is a first-class presentation of a good writer. Miss Orgel has a distinctive voice and it is one worth listening to.

A SYSTEM OF ARCHITECTURAL ORNAMENT ACCORDING WITH A PHILOSOPHY OF MAN'S POWERS. By Louis H. Sullivan. Eakins, $7.50.

Louis Henry Sullivan (1856-1924) was one of our greatest architects. Frank Lloyd Wright said Sullivan's Wainwright Building (St. Louis, 1890) was "the master key to the skyscraper as architecture the world over. A new style in ornamentation was set by his Transportation Building at the 1893 Chicago Columbian Exposition. The small banks he designed in the Middle West are recognized masterpieces (this volume includes Sullivan's drawings for one such structure, the Farmers' and Merchants' Union Bank of Columbus, Wis., built in 1919).

"A System of Architectural Ornament" is Sullivan's credo and shows him in prophetic vein. He uses drawings of ornament he evolves from the principle of the seed germ of botany, and opposing mechanistic views of modern life, contends that the significance and origin of abstract design are to be found in nature's organic structure. Modern art and architecture, he says, must serve in creating a civilization "worthy of man's powers."

FANTASTICS AND EC-CENTRICS IN CHINESE PAINTINGS. By James Ca-

hill. The Asia Society, Inc. Distributed by Harry N. Abrams, Inc.

The period covered is the late Ming and the early Ch'ing, in the two centuries from 1600 to 1800. In the exciting and startling creations of the Chinese masters of the 17th and 18th centuries—the "Individualists"—Cahill discerns remarkable affinities with recent and contemporary Western painting. "These are visible affinities, apparent in the pictures themselves. What is not apparent, and not so widely realized, is that behind them lie equally remarkable correspondences—or anticipations, since they occurred centuries earlier in China—of ways of thought about painting, aims and approaches in painting, that have become current in the West only during the past few generations.

"The concept of painting as a medium more expressive than descriptive, a recognition of the capacity of lines and forms to carry meaning somewhat independently of what they represent, and a shift of attention from the older subject-derived meaning to this new kind"—these are what Cahill means.

In the entire world of art, he believes, the Chinese painting represented in this book offers the best parallel to the directions taken by Western painting in the past century.

Poignant 'Picnic' at State College

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

Hittersweet: that's Cal State College at Long Beach drama department's enjoyable end-of-summer "Picnic" in a small Kansas town, closing tonight on the campus Little Theater stage.

An able, well-directed cast deploys before a superb set neatly dissecting life as it is—or was—in playwright William Inge's native southeast Kansas.

Only the bland accents of today's young Californians in the cast are foreign to those who knew the area and its inhabitants' more nasal tones.

Madge Owens is portrayed by Ronee Laughlin, her mother and younger, brainier sister by Suzanne Bischoff and Kate Dailey, respectively. Helen Potts is played by Ruth Glunt, and Hal Carter by Stephen De France.

Comic relief comes with the teacher's fat, frumpy, frustrated colleagues and their afternoon bridge party. They are played by Lee Griffin and Myra Dennis. Another humorist is newspaperboy Steve Crosby.

Directing with precision and sensitivity was faculty member Stanley Kahan. Set was designed by Ralph W. Duckwall.

Hiroiyuki Has 'em Hopping at Bowl

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

Just when the first third of Hollywood Bowl's 1967 season was threatening to sink into dullness, following the departures of the Royal Ballet and of Eugene Jochum, along comes a brilliant Japanese conductor, Hiroiyuki Iwaki, and, before you can say "Symphonies Under the Stars," the old hills again are alive with the sound of great music.

Iwaki, who made a strong impression last year at his Pavilion debut, conducting his own Japanese orchestra, stood before the Los Angeles Philharmonic Tuesday night and took charge. From the first measure of "The Star Spangled Banner," we realized the special qualities of his leadership.

He seems to have the gift of demanding the most discipline from the musicians, causing them to want to give of their best. Even before that, he brings to each piece of music a unified concept of such conviction as to disarm any negative elements which may be present in the orchestra.

If that sounds like witchcraft, it is. The art of conducting, at its summit, has never been more — ore less — than the compelling force of a single, musical, irresistible personality.

Iwaki is such a personality. After showing us how stirring our national anthem can be (the opposite of Jochum's rendition, which had all the energy of a turtle-going home to die), the young (35-year-old) maestro introduced us to Toshiro Mayuzumi's colorful abstract, "Bugaku," a very pleasant quarter-hour mixed (Lou Harrison; "Captain From Castile") styles.

"Bugaku" was written for Balanchine and the NYC Ballet, which gave its first performance in 1963. In the truncated version presented Tuesday, the piece holds the listener more through the charm of its parts than through the cohesion of its whole.

With or without dancing, it might be satisfying to hear it uncut.

Election Sought on Racing Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An anti-gambling group said Friday it would attempt to overcome a legal technicality and force a referendum on California's new night horseracing law.

Californians Against the Escalation of Gambling, a San Francisco-based group, said it would ask Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch for an official title and summary, the first step in a referendum campaign.

The new law, which legalized night racing for the first time and extended the daytime thoroughbred season, contains an "urgency" clause which put it into effect immediately after it was signed last month by Gov. Reagan. The clause presumably blocked a referendum drive.

BUT THOMAS Gray, chairman of the referendum committee, threatened to challenge the "urgency" provision in court if Lynch refuses to issue the title and summary.

The state constitution clearly defines urgency statutes as "those necessary for immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety. We believe no rational person can hold that extension of parimutuel betting... is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety," Gray said.

He said if Lynch issues the title, the committee will seek to obtain the signatures of 325,172 registered voters to place the measure on the ballot next year.

Mendelssohn's "Scotch" Symphony was Iwaki's principal work, and he presided over a masterful performance. It was fluent, conversational, propulsive, impassioned, elegant.

The Philharmonic played marvelously well, the violins singing their way through the first two movements so gorgeously we had to peek through the binoculars to see if it was really them.

The woodwinds sang, too. Even the French horns got through the whole performance without one of their trademarks.

If Iwaki has a weakness, it is the less than total involvement he shows in the role of accompanist.

For the Korean violinist, Young Uck Kim, playing the B-minor Concerto of Saint-Saens, Iwaki provided adequate, but not really tip-top, support.

Kim, who has been a prodigy for all but six of his 19 years, sailed through the concerto and was especially exciting in a near-flawless finale. Over the microphones, he seemed to bring a lovely tone to the Andantino.

But here, where the notes are simplest, he appeared least at home. There's a moral in there somewhere.

Reagan OKs Using Sprays Against Dogs

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan has signed a bill allowing postmen and other strollers to carry anti-dog spray.

The bill by Sen. George E. Danielson, D-Los Angeles, allows carrying and use of pesticide and dog repellent as long as the intent isn't to injure humans.

Previous law classified many repellent sprays as tear-gas weapons and prohibited their use.

Frugalman (Zap! Pow!) Plugs Up Dollar Drain

LONDON (AP) — Frugalman — America's champion in the fight against the dollar drain — leaped Friday from the pages of the London Area Rocket, the paper of the U.S. Air Force base at Ruislip.

"Frugalman! and... His Amazing Adventures in Saving!!" is a breathless, Batman-like comic strip promoting the Uniformed Services Savings Deposit Program which encourages 2,000 American servicemen based at Ruislip to put 10 per cent of their pay in U.S.-controlled savings and stop some of the $47 million annual gold flow to British shops. The strip will be distributed to Air Force papers throughout Europe.

THE ARCH villain of the piece, appropriately named "Goldflow," does not appear in the first strips sent to the papers.

In the opener, Frugalman is shown trying to batter down the doors to a state university with his shoulder. He is dressed in a turtleneck sweater with a winged shield reading "USSDP... 10 per cent... Frugalman."

His trousers have a stripe down the sides and he wears an Air Force service cap with a "50-mission crush" — bent down on the sides.

His young pal, Kid Profit, stands by, wearing a cap with a dollar sign on its side.

Frugalman: "I've been hammering away all day at this Door to Higher Learning!! This must REALLY be the School of Hard Knocks!"

Sound of shoulder on door: "ZWOP! POW!! WHAP!!! KAPOWEE!!"

KID PROFIT: "Wham-Zam Frugalman! Your secret power... USSDP has come thru with a BIG 10 per cent dividend!"

"Look! We're in!... That USSDP... is a humdinger for opening doors to better things, right Frugalman?"

Frugalman: "That's right, Kid Profit! And remember... you're always 110 per cent better when you save with your Ol' Uncle Sam!"

Professor in cap and gown, handing diploma to Frugalman: "Congratulations, Frugalman! You've set an example for all our men in uniform!"

Frugalman: "I owe it all to USSDP!"

Superwife, Frugalman's spouse, standing next to him: "Oh, I'm so proud! Let's keep saving with USSDP! Look in next week, fans..."

RAIL MEDIATION APPOINTMENT INDICATES

LBJ for Critic Morse's Re-Election

By DREW PEARSON
and

WASHINGTON — The President acted with characteristics telephonic speed to assemble his mediation board to act on the railway controversy.

He phoned Fred Kappel, retired chairman of American Telephone and Telegraph, in Switzerland, and George Meany in Miami. Meany immediately got on a train to return to Washington. The strike ended a few hours before train-time, which was fortunate because George likes to use trains, not planes, whenever possible.

What the President is hoping to do is get a wage agreement acceptable to both the shop-craft unions and the railways long before the two-year deadline expires in 1969.

To this end he picked the mediation board carefully. Ex-Sen. Leverett Saltonstall is a Republican moderate who had a record of being fair to labor. Ted Kheel of New York is one of the top labor mediators in the nation.

Finally, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., knows labor problems better than any other member of Congress, having served as chairman of the War Labor Board, and as a senator having mediated the end of four national strikes.

One man, however, blew his top at Morse's appointment — Roy Siemiller, head of the machinists. He was sore because Morse had led the Senate fight for the limited arbitration act first compulsory arbitration act in American history.

OTHER LABOR leaders did not share Siemiller's indignation. They have known Morse for 30 years, respect him as a man who calls the shots as he sees them for the best interest of the country.

There were a few labor leaders who preferred that Meany not serve on the board, but the majority felt that, since mediation-arbitration was now a law, the best thing to do was go along with the law and have Meany help carry it out as a representative for labor.

Note: The President's stamp of approval on Morse by making him chairman of the board probably means that Morse's Democratic opposition in Oregon will evaporate. Ex-Congressman Dan Duncan was making noises about running in the Democratic primary against Morse on a pro-Vietnam platform, hoping to get LBJ's support. LBJ's appointment of Morse for the top mediation job in the nation means the President is for Morse's re-election regardless of Vietnam.

ONE OF THE factors contributing to ghetto window smashing — loan sharks and high interest rates — is due shortly for a hassle in Congress.

The argument will be between the Senate, which has just passed a truth-in-lending bill, and the House Banking and Currency Committee, which, despite the Senate vote of 92-0, doesn't consider this bill adequate.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, chairman of the committee, and Rep. Leonor Sullivan of St. Louis, long-time consumer protector, don't think the Senate bill will do much to protect small-time installment buyers and victims of high interest rates.

HERE ARE a few of the flaws in the Senate bill, which they think the lending lobbies put a cross on the senators:

"Full disclosure" requirements do not cover first mortgage real estate loans. Thus, on a $20,000 home loan at 6 per cent interest a bank or loan company is required to state that the interest is 6 per cent, but is not required to disclose number — such as placement fees — sometimes running the interest rate up to 8 or 10 per cent.

Credit charges of $10 or less also are exempt from disclosure under the Senate bill. Thus, if a slum dweller buys $300 worth of appliances and is charged a high interest rate on installment, this interest rate would have to be disclosed.

HOWEVER, if the seller is smart, he can, by offering small discounts on purchases, fix it so the buyer will split up the $300 purchase into separate transactions, so the credit charge on each transaction is less than $10. In this case, disclosure of the interest rate is not mandatory under the Senate truth-in-lending bill.

The Senate bill also does not cover certain advertising gimmicks, as when a loan company operating in Washington, D.C., and Silver Spring, Md., recently to prospective customers, offering a $2,500 home improvement loan at 6 per cent interest.

Investigation by Patman's committee revealed that the 6 per cent was a fraudulent come-on. Actually, a customer would have to pay a number of hidden charges, including life and disability insurance, also a credit check fee, bringing the interest up to 19 per cent.

Election Sought on Racing Law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An anti-gambling group said Friday it would attempt to overcome a legal technicality and force a referendum on California's new night horseracing law.

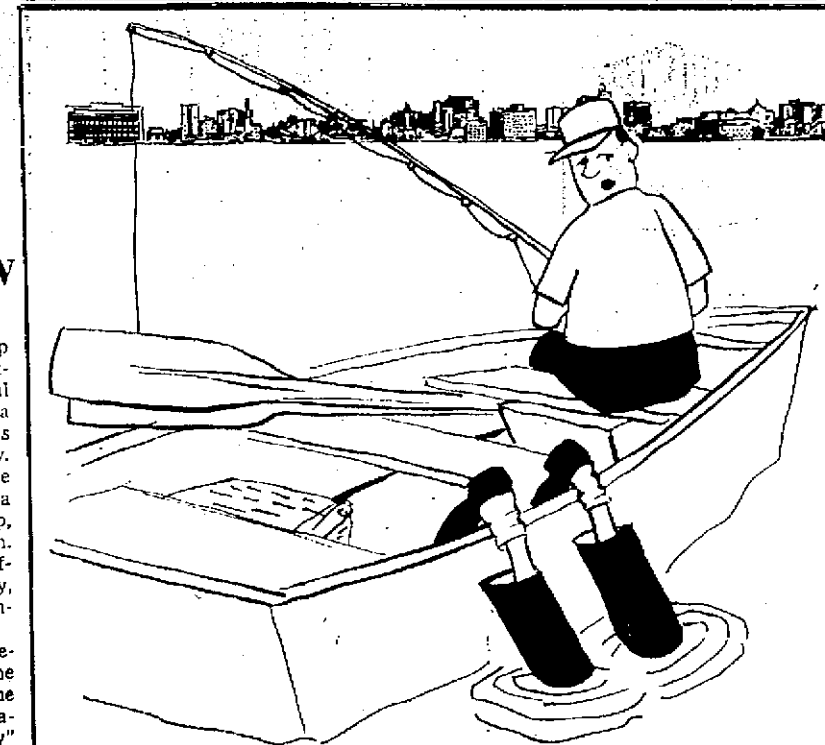

Californians Against the Escalation of Gambling, a San Francisco-based group, said it would ask Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch for an official title and summary, the first step in a referendum campaign.

The new law, which legalized night racing for the first time and extended the daytime thoroughbred season, contains an "urgency" clause which put it into effect immediately after it was signed last month by Gov. Reagan. The clause presumably blocked a referendum drive.

BUT THOMAS Gray, chairman of the referendum committee, threatened to challenge the "urgency" provision in court if Lynch refuses to issue the title and summary.

The state constitution clearly defines urgency statutes as "those necessary for immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety. We believe no rational person can hold that extension of parimutuel betting... is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety," Gray said.

He said if Lynch issues the title, the committee will seek to obtain the signatures of 325,172 registered voters to place the measure on the ballot next year.

"Give him more line, Ed!"

EARMARK $1.6 MILLION

Senior Citizens Home Loan OK'd

By GEORGE LAINE

"I just can't believe it's true. Five long years — waiting — and now it's here."

Rev. Nathaniel Kirkpatrick, pastor of Newhope Baptist Church, expressed his joy thusly Friday when he learned that the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development had approved a $1.6-million loan for construction of a senior citizens home at New York Street and Alamos Avenue.

The HUD loan is designated for the Newhope Home, Inc., a nonprofit corporation headed by Rev. Kirkpatrick. The church of which he is pastor is the official sponsor of the project.

Newhope plans to erect an 8-story facility on the New York — Alamos property, a 2½-acre parcel, which will provide 140 apartments. In addition, the facility will include a central dining room and a recreation area.

"We were at a meeting today with federal officials," said Will Henderson, secretary of the Newhope Home project. "They said that we should not be over-anxious, that the decision could come down from Washington at any time. "Now it's here."

HE CONFIRMED that the project had been more than five years in the planning process, awaiting federal approval.

"Rev. Kirkpatrick has put his heart, his life into this project. We are very pleased that his efforts on behalf of the senior citizens has been rewarded," Henderson said.

Now that the project has officially been approved, Rev. Kirkpatrick said, he will wait only on the official receipt of the HUD approval before mapping the groundbreaking and getting on with the construction phase of the program.

"I won't sleep much tonight," the minister said. "I'm going to be up thanking God for his work in our behalf."

"It's a wonderful thing," he said. "Yes, a wonderful thing."

Orange County Board Eyes $90,000 Added Job Study

Orange County supervisors may order a study of 3,500 jobs to see if any of them can be eliminated. They received a recommendation from Arthur Young and Co., analysts, that the company's "work measurement" survey be expanded next year to $90,000 worth of study.

The company, under a $40,000 contract, came up with a recommendation that 32 jobs in three departments could be eliminated. It studied 139 positions to come to this conclusion.

The county schools office is "overstaffed in its claims division, the county probation department's adult division has too many workers, and the county's Medical Center could use fewer people in its registration office, according to Douglas Rogers of the analytical firm.

He said that he believes his firm can come up with recommendations to save more than $5 million in salaries if the supervisors will authorize a three-year study.

The just-completed $40,000 survey would expand to a $90,000 study next year and would cost $100,000 the following year.

Supervisors said that some phases of the survey might be made by county employees. They asked Administrative Coordinator David G. Hitchcock to come up with a recommendation.

Five Men Booked on Dope Charges

Five men were booked on narcotics charges Friday after Long Beach police who staked out a Florida Street apartment said they saw one suspect using a heroin kit.

Officer Michael T. Morgan said narcotics officers concealed behind a fence near 1227 E. Florida St., Apt. 2, watched one man inject himself with a needle.

Booked on suspicion of possession of heroin, marijuana and narcotic paraphernalia was Robert L. Usher, 25, a laborer, of the Florida Street address.

William Roy Cossairt, 22, a mechanic, of 1963 Stevely Ave., was booked on suspicion of possession of heroin and marijuana. A third man, Larry Thomas Galfund, 25, a concessionaire of 1956 Lave Ave., was booked on suspicion of possession of heroin and marijuana and being under the influence of narcotics.

Booked on suspicion of being in a place where narcotics are used were Danny Berrie, 20, a carnival worker of Vallejo, and Charles W. Marburger, 23, a carnival worker of 6532 Bishop Dr., Huntington Beach.

SEAL BEACH COUPLE PREPARES FOR GRUNION RUN

Grunion Flop Ashore in Last Run of Season

The fabled little grunion of California coastal waters have given rise to many a legend, rumor and false chase.

Recently, reports incorrectly listed the slippery silver fishlets on their last spawning beach run of the year a week ago.

However, the state fish and game department confirmed Friday that this weekend is actually the year's last chance for grunion hunters.

THE SPAWNING run on Southland beaches is scheduled about 10:54 p.m. tonight, 11:30 p.m. Sunday and a few minutes after midnight Monday — lasting one to two hours each night the department said.

Officials cautioned that all persons 16 years and older must have a sportfishing license to catch grunion, and there are strict limits on methods.

The elusive fish may be taken by hand only in the surf or on the beach. It is unlawful to trap them by digging holes in the sand or using any tools or equipment.

The department says the run, which began Friday night, is usually best on the second and third nights. But experts cannot predict the beaches where the grunion will run, except that they prefer to spawn on dark sandy stretches.

Bandit Hits U.S. Agents to Meet L.B. Bank, Takes $930 Long Beach Flights

A bandit Friday held up the North Long Beach branch of the Bank of America for $930 in the third bank robbery in the city this month.

But the robber's description supplied by witnesses did not match the descriptions of bandits in the two earlier stick-ups.

Patrolman Richard W. Beegle said Friday's robber entered the bank at 5401 Long Beach Blvd. at 3:06 p.m. and placed a large canvas bag in front of teller Linda K. Scratcher, 20.

SHE SAID the bandit, who had a deep tan and wore a long, green windbreaker jacket, said, "Fill this bag with currency," and pulled a small gray revolver from his belt.

As she filled the bag with money from a cash drawer, the suspect demanded, "Hurry it up," and again menaced her with the gun, the teller said.

After she had filled the bag, officers said, the bandit placed it under his jacket and told her, "Don't say anything until I get out of here or I'll start shooting."

THE TELLER told bank officials she had been robbed and they activated a silent alarm to summon police.

Witnesses said the robber walked north on Long Beach Boulevard.

Robbery detectives are still looking for a middle-aged bandit who held up the City National Bank, 349 Long Beach Blvd., for $7,725 on July 7.

Another robber, a youth with wavy black hair, robbed the Security First National Bank, 4616 Los Coyotes Diagonal, of $1,539 on July 10.

I.P.T. SERIES AIDS TOTS IN READING

A six-part series entitled "Getting Your Child Ready to Read" begins in Sunday's Independent Press-Telegram. It is designed to help parents give their children just entering the first grade a start in reading through proper guidance and preparation.

The author, Paul J. Kinsella, Ph.D., director of Development Reading Center, Chicago, has concentrated all his academic and professional career on the education of children.

The Independent Press-Telegram offers this series to its readers as a highly-desirable and helpful service that has not been widely available.

WASHINGTON — Three federal agencies Friday agreed to provide services to international flights terminating at Long Beach Municipal Airport.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, said that officials of the Customs Bureau, Public Health Service and Immigration Service have made arrangements to assign personnel to meet all scheduled incoming flights for 11 months starting July 31.

Carriers with international flights terminating at Long Beach had complained that their passengers had been delayed be-

Rule 'Cities' Loss Must Be Repaid

Mrs. Fern S. Evans, convicted of stealing an undetermined amount of money from the Orange County League of Cities while employed as secretary-treasurer, Friday was ordered to repay all the stolen money.

An audit is currently under way by the Orange County Probation Department to determine how much money Mrs. Evans, formerly of 1144 N. Euclid Ave., Anaheim, stole while employed from 1961 until early this year. At the time of her arrest in March losses were estimated from $500 to $26,000.

The order was handed down by Superior Court Judge Howard C. Cameron, who also placed Mrs. Evans, 47, on three years probation. Probation was recommended by psychiatrists at the women's prison at Chino where Mrs. Evans underwent a 90-day diagnostic study.

League President George Honold of Garden Grove signed the complaint for her arrest when a bank audit revealed discrepancies and shortages when she resigned her position with the league.

FROM YOKKAICHI SISTER CITY

Japanese Students in L.B.

By JACK BALDWIN

A pair of travel-weary Japanese High School students arrived in Long Beach this week to begin a 30-day visit as guests of the city's Yokkaichi Sister City Committee.

Accompanying the two students was Kenji Nishii, a teacher in Yokkaichi's newest and largest junior high school.

DURING A RECEPTION at the Reef Restaurant attended by city officials and members of the families which will host the visiting Japanese threesome, they said they had not been to bed for more than 30 hours.

The girl, 18-year old Yumiko Yagi, who "likes to make beautiful lace out of cotton thread" will stay for 17 days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Morrison, 2621 Senasac Ave. before moving to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Everitt, 4445 Faculty Ave. for the final two weeks.

The boy, Mikio Takigawa, 16, an avid English student, will visit the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Yata, 2602 Monogram Ave. and then will move to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Buswald, 3840 Snowden Ave.

Although it had been more than a day since he had any sleep, the teacher-escort told his host family Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Hyde, 5431 El Jardin St., he was too excited to sleep. The teacher will spend the last two weeks of the exchange visit with Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Cook, a member of the Yokkaichi Sister City Committee. The arriving trio were met at International Airport in Los Angeles by Ken Austin, chairman of the sister city committee, Mrs. Vi Dovey, former secretary to the mayor, Miss Kazuko Matsumoto, a member of the committee, and Patrick Bratton, Millikan High School teacher who visited Yokkaichi last year as Long Beach's representative.

Among the welcoming committee were Debbie Felker and Mark Bender, the two Long Beach high school students sent to Yokkaichi for a month during the summer of 1966.

Final event on the busy schedule is a Sayonara Party on August 18. The visitors will depart the following day aboard a Japan Air Lines plane for the return trip.

Training Agency Gets Grant

Community Rehabilitation Industries of Long Beach has received a federal grant of $135,189 to expand its training services, Robert E. Howard, California Department of Rehabilitation, announced Friday in Sacramento.

Much of the money will be used to supplement living expenses of needy clients, said T. L. Pezman, workshop director.

The 11-YEAR-OLD Community Rehabilitation Industries, 1409-21 E. Anaheim St., provides job training for the handicapped, including mentally retarded, mentally ill, blind, palsied, alcoholic, deaf, socially deprived and paroled clients.

The grant provides for 40 clients over the average number of 80. The workshop now has 162 on the roster and is in need of expansion, Pezman said.

L.B. Ships Due

Three more Long Beach-based warships are scheduled to return today from Vietnam war zone duty.

The guided missile frigate USS England and destroyers USS Arnold J. Isbell and Edson will moor at the Naval Station's Pier 15 at 3:30 p.m.

The Hippies Through Eyes of Young Church Leaders

By LES RODNEY

What do young religion-oriented men and women think about their much discussed and publicized contemporaries, the hippies?

Last week we ran the opinions of four leaders in (Second of Two Articles)

Long Beach-area church youth activities. Today we conclude the survey with the views of 10 other young men and women who are active in their churches.

No sweeping generalizations on the conversations will be attempted here. The reader may or may not discern attitudes somewhat different from those of the general adult public. But the young people queried have their own varied opinions, and we will let those opinions speak for themselves.

One finding that CAN be definitely stated is that the minority of young people called hippies are a subject of considerable interest to their thoughtful young contemporaries in the churches, and to the church in general.

DAVID JUSTICE, 18, active at Truett Memorial Southern Baptist Church, in his second year at City College, working this summer with a construction crew, makes the point that hippies have no monopoly on dissatisfaction with the way things are.

"A lot of people of my generation see things they don't like," he says. "All of us see something wrong, like hypocrisy and prejudice and all that. The hippie will only accept society on his own terms — if it gets better, he'll come along. You know, like I don't like that, I'm just going to leave."

"Maybe," he added after reflecting, "the hippies feel they HAVE to do that, that they can't change the way things are. The way I feel, you have to stay and set an example. If I see prejudice and wrong things, I have to say, 'I'll try not to be like that.'"

Dave comments wryly on the fact that hippies get more publicity than "all the young people who act right, and work their way through college. I guess people would rather read about hippie love-ins."

As for "the long hair and all that — I don't care for it. It's not to my taste. But I wouldn't condemn somebody right off. I'd try to see what he had to say."

"Are they happy? They seem to be searching for something. I think the way Christians can help is to show that we're all in the same society, that through our faith in Christ we are more able to cope with problems, are more happy than they are."

CHRIS WENKLE, 17, president of the Episcopal Young Persons at St. Luke's Church, a Wilson High graduate now taking summer courses at City College, has had long talks with three hippies.

"The basis of their beliefs is love for all fellow human beings," he says. "Society today in America seems to have so much hate, so much friction between people. They want to be the opposite of the way society is. This is their reaction. They're just fed up with it."

"Like discrimination... the Negroes in Newark were rebelling against discrimination."

Chris doesn't personally go for "long hair and grubby looks," though he hastens to add "not all hippies are like that." But like many of the young church people interviewed, he doesn't see looks as the important issue. "If society sees something different," he comments, "they condemn it. Hasn't that always been true?"

"I believe the hippies' goals are the same as mine, and that those goals can be reached through faith in God, if that faith is a real one. The ones who use drugs to turn on their inner self, I don't know how many really use drugs, but the ones who do, well, it's easier by looking toward God, opening oneself up to God."

PATRICIA GODWIN, 18, a leader in youth activities at Orthodox Presbyterian Church, says "the truth is I don't know exactly what is meant by the term hippie. 'In all ages, there's always some little group that wants to rebel against things, that just doesn't like society the way it is," she observes.

"They need something, they're trying to get something they don't have. I do feel they are missing something... a meaning for life, something the practicing Christian has found. I don't know whether THEY feel that way or not, that they're missing something."

As for the hippie contention that the church doesn't do much: "They're partly right, not enough is done."

Hippies, Patricia believes, "are succeeding in drawing attention to themselves, just living their own way. If you just sit around on curbs, you get attention, but they're not making a worthwhile point. My own purpose would be to live for God, to glorify Him."

MARK GLADSTONE, 19, active in the Temple Israel youth group, switching from Claremont Men's College to City College this fall, and meanwhile working on newspaper routing, thinks the term "seekers" more appropriate than hippies.

"They're challenging the main values of American life, the ideas of competition, they reject everything that middle class America accepts," he says.

In Mark's view, the hippies are "a very good thing. I think many of the ideas they are challenging are dead ideas."

Environment has worked to change — for the worse — the way people live, feel and act, he believes.

"That's why the hippies stress love, and the tribal feeling, smelling, touching... yes, the flower power. Some people confuse them with politics, like the new left. The way I see it, it's not that, their challenge isn't a conscious political one, they're just living, enjoying life, instead of the values of the rat race."

Hippies, he suggests, are a "continuation of an underground America," which includes some famed writers, playwrights, the Greenwich Village artists, the serious beatniks of the '50s, "but now it's growing beyond those limits."

Sen. Percy of Illinois, he points out, after a visit to Haight-Ashbury, said hippies he had talked to had higher IQs than the average. "It's the more intelligent young people who are dropping out," Mark holds. "They're looking for a place away from an alienated society."

He doesn't go along with the argument that by dropping out, they remove themselves as an influence. "They have an impact just by the fact of their existence."

As for drugs: "I personally think LSD is not as widespread as it's played up. Like any movement, this one has its hangers-on for kicks and different reasons. Drugs are not a necessary part of the hippie movement. Newsweek recently showed that marijuana is used by many average middle-class Americans."

"In my opinion, if anything can save American society, it's the hippies, well, not the hippies as such, but many of the ideas and concepts they're living."

WILLIAM ROBERTSON, 16, active in Uptown Church of Christ, a Poly High graduate headed for Pepperdine with a California State scholarship, says "It doesn't do any good for society to condemn them. Something can't be changed by saying 'you're doing wrong.' You've got to say what they SHOULD do. They're searching for some sort of guidance that we haven't given them."

William disputes the claim that hippies represent Christian values. "They have distorted Christian values," William says.

The use of drugs "is to find a release for reality. It doesn't work. They haven't found any answers in drugs."

While hippies are a minority, he says, "they can't be overlooked."

As to what makes a hippie become a hippie: "Obviously, they've seen some bad examples of living, but that can't be avoided in life," he says. "They have allowed themselves to be overimpressed by the bad, and tend to disregard the better."

DEBORAH HILL, 22, active in the youth group at Grant Chapel AME Church, a Cal State at Long Beach graduate aiming for a career in law, believes that basically the hippies are motivated by praiseworthy aims.

"The way they dress and act, that's just a fad," she says. "What they're against are the things that are bad, like war and hypocrisy."

Young people who think for themselves, Deborah believes, do not simply accept what they are told. "Like you go to school when you're young, and you're fed so much simple propaganda about our way of life, and how everything our government does is always right. Once you're out in the world, you find out that things are not that simple and one-sided."

Commenting on hippie appearances, Debbie said with a smile, "I would think someone would try to keep themselves neat... but each to his own."

As for the love-ins: "Most adults don't understand. It's not physical love, just the spirit of love."

The Christian, she thinks, "should try to get their deep meaning, and apply the good things about them to their own lives."

DON DONAN, 17, active at Lakewood Christ Presbyterian Church, a Lakewood High graduate headed for City College, says flatly, "I think they're bad. I'm against them. I don't agree with the reasons that are given, the excuses, for the way they are."

"Their ideas of freedom," Don amplifies, "set a bad example, and give the rest of us a bad name. They are not typical of young people, in the way they dress and carry on."

Hippies need the help of Christians, he says, and should be subjected "to Christian influence."

"But I read about a church in Hollywood taking them in, giving them a place to stay, and that doesn't change them. That's not the answer. That just goes along with them."

GARY CURTIS, 19, president of the college youth at North Long Beach Brethren Church, and a sophomore at Biola College, has been chatting with hippie types on the beaches, and is convinced "they are seeking for religious values, in a completely misguided way. 'They're really not much different from anyone else in that they're looking for something,' he says. 'Some of them think they have found God in some way through drugs, think they're on the right track."

CONFIDENT LIVING

There Is a Giant in Every Person

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The pompous egotist is a most pathetic person. He is an individual who inwardly has very little use for himself — certainly a minimum of self-confidence. In order to build himself up he throws his weight around and arrogantly acts like he is somebody. Pompously always indicates an inner shrinking and self-depreciation for which one is trying to compensate. It is a pathetic psychological reaction.

It is a fact, I believe, that the average person has a small opinion of himself. He just doesn't think he can do very much; he settles for self-assumed limitations. But that is not the worst part of it. Having a small conception of oneself also means having a small conception of God — for He made us like Himself. A big God does not make little people. Could be, of course, that some people like God that way — little. Then there is no challenge in Him.

When you are challenged to be big you have to rise to meet the challenge. But there is something in us that does not respond easily to act like big people. We falter in the presence of our difficulties — we are afraid of ourselves — we just don't think we have what it takes. We appraise ourselves low and sell ourselves short. And why? Well, one reason is actual fear of being the large-bore, big-caliber persons we were intended by God to be. So we actually dwarf ourselves.

IN CALIFORNIA I went to see the big trees. Have you ever been to the big trees? Go sometime and they will say something to you — something big. There are two stands of big trees: the Muir Woods near San Francisco and Sequoia National Park. Those giant redwoods scrape the sky — enormous trees. A roadway cuts through one and you can drive a car through. Some of those giants were old when Christ was born. Association with those colossal trees stretches your personality.

After such an inspiring experience I visited a horticultural show in San Francisco. One of the exhibits featured a fascinating miniature Japanese landscape — tiny streams, bridges and woods complete with trees, ferns and moss. I asked the artist who had created it, "Are those imitation trees and plants?"

"They are real trees, stunted trees," he answered.

Adventist Asia Leader to Report on Vietnam

The missionary-administrator for Seventh-day Adventist work in Southeast Asia, whose work takes him regularly into the war-torn Vietnam, will speak Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. in First Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1001 E. Third St. He will also show movies of the area and artifacts gathered in missionary work.

He is Daniel R. Guild, 44, president of the Southeast Asia Union Mission, visiting here during a three-month furlough from his headquarters in Singapore. In his administrative duties, which include overall direction of hundreds of ministers, parochial school teachers, and other religious workers, Guild visits Vietnam about once a month.

"The strife in Vietnam seems to have influenced many persons to study the principles of Christianity now more than ever," he says. "It is more difficult, of course, to preach the gospel amid wartime conditions, but everywhere in Vietnam we see the influence of Christianity at work."

"Some of these people we visit by plane, some by boat, others by jeep, and yet others it takes hours of walking through thick jungle to reach."

FROM THE PULPIT

To some folk, where they attend church doesn't matter. Just the idea of "going to church" seems to have some sort of bill in it. Whatever the bill of fare spiritually doesn't seem to matter. To others, the bill of fare is what counts. Somewhere along the way they have been introduced to the wonderful Gospel of Christ and have tasted of God's grace. They worship where the Word is proclaimed. Good singing, Bible teaching and Gospel preaching make up their bill of fare. Do you "just go to a restaurant" to eat? It doesn't matter which one, since they all serve food, anyway? Or do you select a restaurant that specializes in your favorite food? May I suggest, for the spiritually hungry that you try Calvary? Calvary is for you!

Rare Family Baptism

It was a fourth generation baptism last Sunday at Starr King Community United Presbyterian Church for young Scott Terrell Luke. Present and accounted for were parents, maternal grandparents and great-grandparents, all Long Beach residents, all members of Starr King.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terry W. Luke (Vicki), of 190 Norton St., are both graduates of Jordan High. Luke is a computer operator for Safeway Stores and attends City College. Mrs. Luke, a City College graduate, has taught Sunday School at Starr King.

Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Gerken (Wanda Belle), are celebrating their first grandchild. Gerken is a representative for Insurance Securities Trust Fund, is past president of the North Long Beach Exchange Club, past district governor of National Exchange Club, has been active in Boy Scouts 15 years, is an elder at Starr King, has served as deacon and trustee. Mrs. Gerken, past president of the North Long Beach Exchange Club, is also an elder and has served as a deacon, has been active in Girl Scouts, PTA and Community Chest.

Great-grandfather Glen A. Gerken is president of the Long Beach Water Board, and of the county's Compton District Mosquito Abatement, is past president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, Society of Residential Appraisers, Goodwill Industries, Exchange Club and treasurer of the California State Exchange Club. Has been trustee and chairman of the

Big Bowl Night, Synod Switch, Nix on 'African'

The annual "bowful of Presbyterians" is expected next Saturday night, July 29 for the benefit performance in Hollywood Bowl, with proceeds going to the community centers operated in the Southland by the United Presbyterian Church. They serve people of all ages, races and creeds.

Presbyterian Night at the Bowl is not restricted to Presbyterians, which is a good thing, or some of us would have to "convert" for a night, since the program features Gershwin Night, with Skitch Henderson conducting the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra, Sarah Vaughn as vocalist, and Julius Katchen, concert pianist (Any former New Yorkers reading this remember the grand old Gershwin Nights in Lewisohn Stadium?).

Tickets may be obtained through your nearest United Presbyterian church, all of which are listed in the Yellow Pages.

QUOTE FROM the recent convention of the Missouri Synod Lutherans, by Dr. Bertwin L. Frey: "The building committee at Starr King.

Great-grandmother Mrs. Mable Gerken is past president of the Long Beach Writers Club, Long Beach Exchange Club, Starr King Elementary School PTA and United Presbyterian Women of Starr King. Young Scott will be heard from later.

church has shown more concern for social action, not because it has forgotten the Cross, but because it is remembering the Cross."

IN A resolution at the same conference adopted unanimously by the nearly 800 delegates, the Synod encouraged its members "to continue their interest and participation in ecumenical dialogue whenever the opportunity presents itself with no injury to our confessional commitment." The 2.8 million member strong Missouri Synod, second largest of the nation's three major Lutheran bodies, is the leader of Lutheran conservatism, and has remained largely aloof from the ecumenical movement.

LOCAL MINISTERS of the Assemblies of God are increasingly busy with preparations for their host role at the national convention of the denomination in Long Beach Aug. 24-29. Some 10,000 visitors are expected, representing 8,506 churches and mission groups.

A LONG standing point of difference in several of the predominately Negro churches may have been moved toward resolution last week in Compton when the Southern California

Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church approved a resolution urging the denomination to drop the word "African" from its name.

The resolution asked how the church could preach that everyone is equal in God's eye "and yet march under an African banner." It also asked other groups with the words "African" or "colored" in their names to drop it. One of these would be the African Methodist Episcopal Church, a slightly larger organization (both are over the million mark, and each split off from a Methodist church in the late 18th century).

The resolution, may not be popular with the Black Power — Black Nationalist movements, which now play down integration, as such, and also are proud of the original African heritage.

A FIXED DATE for Easter Sunday, long advocated by many, may be coming closer, with favorable reaction now reported from the Roman Catholics, National Council of Churches, all Lutherans, and others. Southern Baptists and the conservative evangelical bodies have not indicated approval to date. Currently the commemoration of the

CHURCH YOUTH ON HIPPIES

They haven't really found God, they haven't attained any real personal involvement."

His way, he holds, is "artificial. It's their own way, man's way, rather than Christ's."

It's too easy to judge them on their dress and exterior appearance, Gary says, "but talking to them, they're really not that way out. They're sensible. Their goals are perfectly respectable. But they go about them in the wrong way."

As a Christian, he says, he tries "to relate to them, to compare our views, and simply present to them that God could be found through the person of Jesus Christ. Not any particular church or denomination."

He knows their way is misguided, he says, "because I can see no real satisfaction in them. I can see my own satisfaction."

"I just exactly what the hippies are looking for, it seems to me talking to them, is just exactly the things Christ set forth."

BARBARA MILLER, 16, active at First Nazarene Church, a Millikan High senior, dropped in on a Griffith Park love-in "as an observer."

Resurrection is held on the first Sunday after the full moon on or after Mar. 21, or one week later if the full moon comes on a Sunday.

RECOMMENDED reading is an article entitled "What Ever Happened to Compassion?" by Rev. William J. Carter of First Methodist of Elizabethton, Tenn. in the August "Together" magazine. He eloquently deprecates today's emphasis on the "practical" while idealism is belittled. "When the ability to feel the hurt of another leaves mankind of love," Rev. Carter writes. "We must experience compassion in order to understand the unselfish love of God." A section of the article on how state welfare has tended to cut off personal compassion for the poor may stir up some controversy, even though he is not against government welfare aid where needed.

RICHARD ORR, 18, president of the youth group at Belmont Heights Methodist Church, a Wilson graduate heading for City College, now working in a fish-packing plant, believes hippies forfeit the respect of the average person because of their appearance.

"I'll recognize anyone who isn't just trying to be different, but is expressing views," he says. "But with the beards and sloppy clothes, who is going to listen to them?"

Richard dropped in on an O'Neill Park love-in. "Just speculating, it was real interesting to me. I respect the real hippies, the ones with real convictions, but not the kids, some of them only 13 and 14, practically saying they look, everybody, I'm a hippie."

He believes the Vietnam War is a central thing to hippies. "Lots of people feel the same way, that it's not the right thing, not everyone agrees with the policy, but the hippies are so far out radical in their attitude."

"I don't admire conformists, they're just sheep, I respect a person trying to change something, trying to make something better. I guess hippies are better than sheep who just follow the leader. But there's got to be a happy medium between radicals, who say everything is wrong, and conformists, who accept everything."

Richard can't see religion in the hippies. "They don't have anything to do with any church. They're striving for peace among men, yet have nothing to do with the church. When they say everyone in church is hypocritical, that's just a generalization. When you're in the church you know that's not true. The hippies have their own hypocrites, for that matter."

But whether he agrees with them or not, he re-emphasizes, "I'll respect their right to their ideas. I'm really down on their appearance more than anything."

L.B. Pastor Heads Baptist Group

Rev. Dr. Martin Canavan, pastor of First Baptist Church of Dominguez at 2679 E. Carson St., has been elected president of the American Baptist Assn., a fundamentalist missionary group formed in 1905, with nearly one million members, mostly in the South.

The association will meet in Long Beach in 1969. Dr. Canavan will preside next year at the meeting in Hot Springs, Ark.

Rev. Ruud Here

With departure of Rev. A. K. Odden, and pending the arrival this fall of the new minister, Rev. George Johnson of Minnesota, Christ Lutheran Church's services are being conducted by Rev. Gordon Ruud, director of the Radio Voice of the Gospel recording studio in Madagascar, who is currently spending his furlough in this area.

NEW POWER

Francis Lederer, veteran film and stage actor, operates one of the country's most unusual schools for actors and performers where he not only teaches them how to perform on stage, but, as well, offstage.

His own onstage techniques will be seen as guest star at 8:30 tonight on "Mission: Impossible," channel 2.

We don't know how he acts offstage (onstage we find him full of poise and confidence) but we have some of his views on how to behave when not performing.

"What I want to teach young people," he says, "is how to acquire poise — in interviews, for instance. It might surprise people to know that for more than 20 years one of Hollywood's top stars went into a state of utter panic before every interview."

The key to good offstage behavior, says Lederer, is poise and self-confidence. We are told he is in complete possession of himself when he is offstage. When he meets a lady, he greets her with a light kiss on her hand.

Sounds kind of sissified, but we'll give it a whirl.

FORMER NBC-TV news writer-producer Anthony R. Potter has been named to produce the live news and documentary programs from the KCET Channel 28

CLASSES ARE held every day, including Saturdays, and courses run a minimum of four hours a day in most of the performing arts. There are courses for children and teenagers.

Lederer has directed the school since its start 10 years ago.

"What I want to teach young people," he says, "is how to acquire poise — in interviews, for instance. It might surprise people to know that for more than 20 years one of Hollywood's top stars went into a state of utter panic before every interview."

The key to good offstage behavior, says Lederer, is poise and self-confidence. We are told he is in complete possession of himself when he is offstage. When he meets a lady, he greets her with a light kiss on her hand.

Sounds kind of sissified, but we'll give it a whirl.

Brunet Decisions Twins for Second Time in Week

By ROSS NEWHAN

George Brunet, a traveling man, celebrated his fifth season in the major leagues this week, qualifying for the lucrative pension plan.

Brunet's odyssey spans 12 summers, encompassing 20 cities. He is listed in Rand-McNally rather than the Baseball Register and before finding steady employment in Anaheim he picked-up part time work in such major league hamlets as Kansas City, Milwaukee, Houston, Baltimore and Los Angeles.

Now pensioner Brunet is providing for the Angels welfare. The 32-year old southpaw brought home the bread again Friday night as Angel fortunes as well as the yeast continued on the rise.

ANGEL OF DAY GEORGE BRUNET

Stopped Twins on seven hits, beating Minnesota for second time in five days, 2-1.

With ninth inning assistance from Minnie Rojas, the automatic pitching machine, the resolute Brunet scattered seven hits while frustrating Minnesota, 2-1.

The Twins, in fact, were seeing double. Blanked by Brunet, 2-0, last Monday, Minnesota was destined for the same fate until Harmon Killebrew opened the ninth with his 28th home run.

Brunet disposed of Tony Oliva and Rich Rollins, but when Bob Allison walked and Zoilo Versalles singled, a nervous Bill Rigney cranked up Rojas.

It wasn't too long ago, of course, that Brunet was setting records for consecutive losses. He reeled off nine in a row before hooking a winner.

He's now 8-3 since the streak and has yielded just seven runs in his last five starts. Casting for an ace in the absence of Jim McGlothlin, the Angels found one in Brunet.

As a crowd of 29,639 watched with baited breath, Brunet and Rojas hurled the Halos to within one game of second place

Dodgers Remain as Eighth Wonder of National League

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Bill Singer, who doesn't read the papers because "I might get mad," thus missed the big buildup for the current Mets-Dodgers series.

"But," said Singer, "I did detect a little more interest than usual from the fans," which may have had something to do with keeping the Dodgers as the eighth wonder of the National League.

Singer, with help from Phil Regan, shut out the Mets 3-0 Friday night to give the Dodgers a 1½ game lead in the battle for eighth place.

The situation for Regan's entry was ideal. It was raining hard when Regan was called after Bud Harrelson singled and Larry Stahl walked with one out in the eighth.

Whether catcher Jeff Torborg called for it or not, Regan's first pitch to Ed Charles was a wet one and Charles tapped it into an inning-ending double play.

"The rain agreed with me," said Regan. "But as far as footing was concerned, it was a little too wet."

Babe's Home Run Foe, 'XX,' Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Foxx, the famed Double X, who ranked among baseball's greatest home run hitters, died Friday. He was 59.

Foxx, who helped the old Philadelphia Athletics to a dominance of the game in the early 1930s, retired in 1945 with 534 major league home runs—second only to Babe Ruth until Willie Mays passed him last year.

Foxx, a muscular, right-handed hitter who sometimes was called The Beast, was voted into baseball's Hall of Fame in 1951. He was a first baseman.

Foxx, who had been in financial straits in his later life, became ill Friday at the home of his brother, Sam, with whom he lived.

Sheriff's detective Walter Seward said the brother told him Foxx had a heart condition.

Foxx, born in Sudlersville, Md., Oct. 22, 1907, broke in with the Athletics—then managed by Connie Mack—in 1925. He also played with the Boston Red Sox, before winding up his career with the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies in 1945.

He finished with a lifetime batting average of .325 and twice led the American League in hitting, at .356 in 1933 and .349 in 1938.

But it was as a slugger the big guy won his greatest fame. He led the American League in home runs four times, 58 in 1932, 48 in 1933, 36 in 1935 and 35 in 1939.

In 1933, he won baseball's triple crown.

Also-Ran Aaron Aims at First Major Title

DENVER (UPI) — Tommy Aaron, who has seen many golden chances pass him by, hopes he has at long last found the key to victory.

A professional golfer for nearly seven years, much of that time as a regular member of the tour, Aaron has never won a major tournament.

But a scorching seven-under-par 31-34—65 Friday gave the bespectacled Georgian his best chance in many moons with a four-shot lead going into the third round of the 49th PGA championship.

Aaron's 65, matching the PGA second-round record set in 1959 by Jerry Barber, pushed him nine-under-par for 36 holes with 135 over the 7,400-yard, par 36-36—72 Columbine course which proved surprisingly unfriendly to Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer and a host of others.

Trailing Aaron by four strokes were first round lead Dave Hill, scrambling to a one-over-par 73 for a 36-hole total of five-under-par 139, heat-smitten Dan Sikes and unheralded Don Bies, each of whom shot a 70.

Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite, faded badly to 75 Friday and was two-under-par 142, one stroke back of arch-rival Palmer, who struggled home with a 71 on the strength of back-to-back birdies on the 12th and 13th.

Dandy Doug Sanders, dressed in a lavender shirt with shoes to match, sank the fourth hole-in-one in PGA history, acing the 194-yard 16th with a four-iron. He wound up with a one-under-par 71 and a two-round total of 143, along with six others.

It took a score of 151 or better to survive the cut. Among those who failed to make it were former champions Doug Ford, Jerry Barber, Walt Burkemo and Jay Hebert plus Johnny Pott, Bob Roshing and Al Besse-link. It was the second highest cut on the tour this year and left 76 pros in the running for a share in the $150,000 prize money. The final two rounds will be nationally televised by ABC.

The heat and the thin air took their toll. Dan Sikes and defending champion Al Geiberger nearly passed out on the back nine, Sikes rushed to the clubhouse after his round for oxygen. An emergency tank was nearby on the course, officials said, but players did not realize it.

"Every time I went over to tee up on the last five or six holes I almost fell over," Geiberger said. Sikes said he did not recall ever feeling so bad. He said he was just plain "tapped out."

Aaron, who led or shared the lead for three rounds the 1965 PGA tournament, blistered the Columbine course with an unrelenting assault. He sank nine birdies—eight of them on the middle holes when he fashioned two strings of three birdies in a row and a brace of back-to-back birds.

He broke the spell briefly for bogeys on the 15th and 17th holes, but came back to birdie the 18th and break the course record of 65, set only the day before by Hill.

Aaron started innocently enough, paring the first three short birdie putts of three holes. Then he sank 4 and 8 feet on the next three holes. After he parred the seventh, the 30-year-old Southerner saw a 20-foot putt tremble on the edge of the cup and then fall for au-other birdie. The fifth birdie in six holes came on a 60-footer from a bunker.

Aaron parred the 10th, then got three more birdies in a row—on a 15-footer at 11, a 5-footer on 12 and a 12-footer at 13. He bogeyed the 15th when he hit into a trap and the 17th when he drove into a bunker. A two-foot birdie in 18 put him back on the beam and into the record book.

"I thought the greens were better today," he said. "I hit some good drives—some real good drives."

Sikes had a horrendous start, bogeying the first three holes, but he offset it with three birdies on the front nine and then cut two shots off par coming in. Hill had more bunker trouble, but unlike the first round, he could not recover in such brilliant style. Three bogeys and two birdies on the front side left him one-over-par, but tempered a rather bogey with his third birdie on the back nine.

Bies, a 29-year-old assistant pro in Seattle, shot his second straight subpar round, getting a two-under 70 to stay among the leaders.

Nicklaus had a maddening turnabout of his game as he shot a 37-38—75, three over par, on a course supposedly designed to his talents.
